

I am in strong support of Open Relay. There should not be any restrictions whatsoever by any of the Video Relay Providers on the consumer. I am also urging the FCC to require these VR providers to work with other internet companies to make high speed internet like Broadband available in areas outside of city limits, semi-rural and rural areas. As of now such service is unavailable which makes the word "accessible" meaningless.